FOREWORD

This history of the Hixson Family of Tennessee has been prepared with the assistance of several members of the family who copied Bible records, and supplied family lore. Rev. James Ephraim Hixson, of Soddy, has been particularly interested and helpful in copying records and interviewing kinsmen. Judge Will Cummings, Walter Cummings, and Mrs. Robert A. Dykes, of Chattanooga, have given valuable assistance. William Anderson Burnette of Hartford, Michigan, aided the work and was the inspiration for its preparation. Mrs. Anderson Cheek Grayson, of Whitwell, Tennessee, contributed family Bible records and recalled much information of older generations, having known many members of her husband's family, including his mother, who was Nancy Hixson, born in 1799 in Greene County, Tennessee, daughter of William Hixson; Judge Will Cummings contributed the sworn statement that his grandmother, born in Greene County in 1798, often told him that her father, William Hixson, served in the revolution.

Greene County, Tennessee records were searched and supplied by Charles E. Coile, of Greeneville. County and State records of states other than Tennessee have been given by county court clerks, and secretaries of state.

The repetition in each generation of names such as Joseph, Timothy Stringfield, Houston, Ephraim, Reuben and the frequent marriage of cousins have caused a not-to-be-avoided confusion in the family records. The compilers of this family record have made every effort to clear this line. Some descending lines which were not clear to the compilers—or to members of the family—may be straightened because of this compilation.

The list of Revolutionary soldiers was compiled from United States Pension Records and records of the several states.

The name Hixson is spelled in many ways, and researchers for family history will find entries under Hixon, Hixson, Hickson, Hicksen; while occasionally the identical family will be named as Hicks, and more rarely Hix. The multiplicity of names also causes confusion of identity, but it is believed that a generic relationship exists among them all. This record deals with the Hixson family which was living in the Tennessee country, then North Carolina, in the 1780's, but other data are added even though a definite connection is not shown with the Tennessee family.

HIXSON OF TENNESSEE

Among the early settlers in Greene County, North Carolina, now Greene County, Tennessee, were Joseph and Susannah Hixson and their family of nine children.

Joseph Hixson's will in 1804, proves his residence in Greene County until that date; and the marriages of some of his children whom he mentions in the will prove his residence in the county as early as 1789.

An old record book in the office of the County Court Clerk contains a copy of his will, dated November 26, 1803, and probated January 23, 1804, by witnesses Thomas Prather and Alexander Prather.

Greene County, Tennessee
November 26, 1803.

"I have given to my beloved wife Susannah all my lands, negroes and stocks of all kinds of household furniture with full possession of all improvements to the plantation that I now live on with full possession of all my property real and personal during her widowhood and if she marries then all the property that I will to my wife is to be divided equally amongst all my children which is Andrew, William, Timothy, Joseph, Ephraim, John, Susannah Davis, Benjamin and James and my wife and not to be sold, except seventy acres of land I gave to my two sons, Joseph and Ephraim, a part of the said land I now live on agreeable to the lines that was run for my son Andrew, for which my son Andrew received fifty pounds of my sons Joseph and Ephraim and there shall be fifty pounds deducted out of my son Andrews part or share of my estate and fifty acres of land I gave to my son Ephraim a new survey that he now lives on and at my wife's death all the above mentioned estate that I will to her shall be equally divided except two above mentioned tracts of land and two negroes.

I nominate my wife Susannah, my sons Joseph and Ephraim my soul Executors of this my last will and testament."

(Signed) Joseph Hixson.

(Printed exactly as it appears in the County Record).

Greene County was then in Tennessee but it had been a part of several governments, namely: North Carolina, the State of Franklin, North Carolina again, and the Territory of the United States South of the River Ohio.

During these changes records of the county were kept by one man, Daniel Kennedy, County Court Clerk, a proof of the confidence of the people in him in a somewhat turbulent time.

The early records in the county list marriages of the following children of Joseph and Susannah Hixson.

William Hixson to Ingola Hughes, Sept. 7, 1789.

Joseph Hixson, Jr., to Mary Johnson, Dec. 7, 1790.

Timothy Hixson to Rebecca Hughes, Feb. 3, 1795.

John Hixson to Laney Nelson, March 28, 1805.

Susannah Hixson to William Davis, —— 1794.

There is a record of the marriage of another William Hixson to Catherine Wilhoite, July 25, 1808. This is not William, son of Joseph and Susannah, who married Ingola Hughes, as they had moved before 1808 to Bledsoe County, Tennessee.

It is impossible by information now in hand to establish the residence of Joseph Hixson before he moved to Greene County, or his revolutionary service. By the recurrence of the name Timothy in the family records from this time forward, a connection with a Loudoun County, Virginia, family, and a Captain Timothy Hixson, seems indicated, but there is no proof of the fact. There was a Joseph Hixson in New Jersey in the War of the Revolution, but again there is no proof of connection. By reason of age and other facts, Joseph of the New Jersey revolutionary army is definitely not the Joseph who was living in Greene County in 1789, but may have been a kinsman.

Bledsoe County records show that Timothy Hixson, son of Joseph and Susannah, bore the double name Timothy Stringfield Hixson, and that same double name constantly recurs in the family record. As given names were very rarely doubled in the 1700's, and as this is the only example of a double name among the nine children, it seems possible and even probable that Susannah was named Susannah Stringfield, before her marriage, and possible also that her father was named Timothy. However, no Timothy Stringfield has been found. As Joseph and Susannah named their first two children, judging by sequence in the will, Andrew and William, those two names may be an indication of parental given names of Joseph and Susannah.

The records of Greene County contain several real estate conveyances to members of the Hixson family.

"William Bigham, then a resident of Jefferson County conveyed to William Hixson, in the year 1800, a tract of land on Middle Creek in Greene County for the consideration of five hundred pounds; this deed was witnessed and proven by Timothy Hixson and William Bigham.

In 1803, William Bigham conveyed an adjoining tract of land to William Hickson for consideration of one hundred pounds. This deed was made from Blount County and was witnessed by John Hughes and John Hixon. In the same year William Bigham of Blount County conveyed to Timothy Hickson 1631 1-3 acres lying just west of the foregoing tracts. This deed was witnessed by William Hixon and John Hixon. It appears that when some one else wrote this name it was spelled Hickson but when the persons themselves signed the name it was spelled Hixon or Hixson.

February 25, 1809. Ephraim Hixson of Bledsoe County conveyed to Susannah Hixson 70 acres of land lying on Middle Creek, on the south side of the Nolachuckey River, and this deed was witnessed by Washington Handshaw (Henshaw); Claudius Buster, and Joseph Brown. This is proof that Susannah Hixson lived until 1809.

(Joseph Hixson's will quoted above exempted 70 acres which he had given to his sons Joseph and Ephraim and presumably this is the same 70 acres which Ephraim returned to his mother in 1809. Probably the son Joseph had conveyed his half to Ephraim).

Several of the children of Joseph and Susannah Hixson moved to the section which became Bledsoe County, Tennessee. By family records, they moved in 1805, but this precedes the erection of Bledsoe County by two years. The actual migration, therefore, was to Roane County, Tennessee, although they later lived in Bledsoe County without change of location. It is believed in the family that five brothers moved to Bledsoe County, namely: William Hixson, Ephraim Hixson, Timothy Stringfield Hixson, Andrew Hixson and Joseph Hixson, Jr.

The children of Joseph and Susannah Hixson were:

Andrew Hixson.
William Hixson.
Timothy Hixson.
Joseph Hixson, Jr.
Ephraim Hixson.
John Hixson.
Susannah Hixson, who married William Davis.
Benjamin Hixson.
James Hixson.

ANDREW HIXSON

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Andrew Hixson, son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson, is the first son mentioned in his father's will. He was born about 1758. Few data are available concerning him. He served as bondsman when the marriage licenses of his brothers were obtained indicating an elder brother privilege. By family belief he moved to Bledsoe County with his four brothers. Also by family belief he had served in the Revolution. He made plans to move to the West but on the way he was drowned in the Mississippi River at Memphis.

WILLIAM HIXSON

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

The second son named in the will of Joseph Hixson of Greene County, was William. He was born about 1760. He married in Greene County on September 6, 1795, as is shown by the county records. Bondsmen for the marriage license were, Andrew Hixson, presumably his brother, and Sparling Bowman, evidently a kinsman or close friend, as he served as bondsman in practically all the Hixson and Hughes weddings of the period. William Hixson, his wife and their children moved to Bledsoe County where William Hixson died. His will was probated in Bledsoe County August 4, 1827. His wife Ingola, survived him. She was named as executor, with William, Jr., Joseph Hughes Hixson and John Hixson. The three are no doubt sons of William and Ingola Hixson.

3 1833 03109 1751

The children of William Hixson and Ingola Hixson were:

William Hixson, Jr.
Joseph Hixson.
Nancy Hixson.
Ingola Hixson.

The service of William Hixson in the Revolution is established by the sworn statement of Judge Will Cummings that his grandmother told him many times that her father, William Hixson, served in the Revolution. As the residence of the Hixsons was on the Nolachuckey River, near the Seviers, and as the young men in the two families were relatively the same ages it is reasonable to suppose that the young Hixsons as well as the young Seviers followed John Sevier in the volunteer service of the period. Frequently the names of volunteers were not listed because of short service and hasty organization.

Ingola Hixson, daughter of William and Ingola Hughes Hixson, was born in Greene County, Tennessee, in 1798. She had the unusual experience of living in three centuries as she died at the age of 104 in 1902 in Hamilton County, Tennessee. After the custom of the period her name was changed to Ingie. She married Jeremiah Fryar. Her daughter Rebecca married John W. Cummings, and had three children, William Cummings, Hamilton County Judge for many years, who married Lillian Coggins; John Walter Cummings, who married Katherine Newman; Mary Elizabeth Cummings, who married Calvin Grant.

Nancy Hixson, daughter of William and Ingola Hughes Hixson, was born in Greene County, Tennessee, July 22, 1799. She died November 10, 1881, at the home of her son, Anderson Cheek Grayson, in Whitwell, Tennessee. She married in Bledsoe County, Henry Grayson, son of Joseph and Patsy Brazeale Grayson. Patsy Brazeale Grayson was the daughter of Willis Grayson of South Carolina, who is listed as a soldier of the Revolution.

The nine children of Henry and Nancy Hughes Grayson were: Pleasant C. Grayson, born 1821; Louisa Grayson, born 1823, (who married Josiah Burnett and had a son Elijah Anderson Burnett, who married Mrs. Mary Jane White Hudson and had a son, William Anderson Burnett of Hartford, Michigan); William Hixson Grayson born 1826; Patrick H. Grayson, born 1828; James M. Grayson, born 1831; Sarah C. Grayson, born 1834; Hudson Grayson, born 1837; Joseph A. Grayson, born 1839; Anderson Grayson, born 1841, who served in the Confederate army and married Josephine Barber and had among other children Mrs. Robert A. Dykes of Chattanooga.

TIMOTHY STRINGFIELD HIXSON

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Timothy Hixson, the third son mentioned in the will of Joseph Hixson of Greene County, is called Timothy Stringfield Hixson in the Bledsoe, Marion and Hamilton County records, although Joseph Hixson does not give him the middle name. He married February 3, 1795, Rebecca Hughes. She was a sister of Ingola Hughes, who married William Hixson. The bondsmen were Andrew Hixson and Sparling Bowman.

Know all men by these presents that we Andrew Hixson and Sparling Bowman of Greene &c our heirs &c. are bound unto his Excellency William Blount Esquire and to his successors in office in the sum of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars to be void on condition; if there be no just cause or lawful impediment to obstruct the marriage of Timothy Hixson to Rebecca Hughes.

Given under our hands and seals this 3rd day of Feb. 1796.

Signed and sealed before
Dan Kennedy C G Co.

The children of Timothy Stringfield Hixson and Rebecca Hughes Hixson were:

(1) Margaret Hixson, born June 15, 1799; died Oct. 9, 1888. She married her cousin, Ephraim Hixson. The records of her eleven children are given under the name of their father, Ephraim Hixson. She named one son Timothy Stringfield Hixson, for her father.

(2) Sarah Hixson, who married Samuel Hixson.

(3) Joseph Hixson.

(4) Reuben Hixson, who married and had children: Timothy, Joseph, Colonel, Ephraim Foster, Reuben and "Sis," (who married Borden Graham and had Kinney Graham).

(5) Colonel Hixson.

(6) Ephraim Hixson.

(7) Houston Hixson.

(8) Timothy Stringfield Hixson.

JOSEPH HIXSON, JR.

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Joseph Hixson, Jr., son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson of Greene County, Tennessee, was born about 1770. He is the fourth son mentioned in his father's will. He married Mary Johnson, in Greene County, December 2, 1790. It is believed that he emigrated to Bledsoe with four of his brothers. He is mentioned with Ephraim in their father's will as having received a tract of 70 acres. In 1809 Ephraim conveyed the 70 acres to their mother Susannah Hixson. Either Joseph had died by 1809 and had given his half of the tract to Ephraim or had sold it to him.

EPHRAIM HIXSON

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Ephraim Hixson, the fifth son named in the will of Joseph Hixson of Greene County, Tennessee, was born about 1770. That he moved to Bledsoe County is proved by a Greene County record which says: "Ephraim Hixson of Bledsoe County conveys to Susannah Hixson 70 acres on Middle Creek on the south side of Nolachuckey River." This land was mentioned in his father's will. He was evidently returning it to his mother. The name of his wife has not been revealed by records nor the names of all of his children. It is probable that three of his children were:

- (1) Houston Hixson, born in Greene County, 1795.
- (2) Susan Hixson, born in Greene County, 1801, who married Elisha Kirklin.
- (3) Ephraim Hixson, Jr.

HOUSTON HIXSON

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Houston Hixson, born May 22, 1492, died November 18, 1868, married in Bledsoe County, Rebecca Grayson, born September 27, 1794, died September 22, 1859. They had the following children:

Malinda Hixson, who married David Hixson.
Margaret Hixson, married Joshua Beck, son of David Beck.
Eliza Hixson, who married —— Siveley and after his death married Arthur Jones.
Mary Ann Hixson, who married John Hamil.
John Hixson, who moved to the State of Washington.
William Hixson, who went to California.
Ephraim Hixson, who died young.
Henry Grayson Hixson, who married Rebecca Hixson, daughter of Wilson Hixson.

EPHRAIM HIXSON, JR.

Son of Joseph and Susannah Hixson

Ephraim Hixson, Jr., was born in Greene County, October 14, 1797. He died in Hamilton County, December 25, 1855. He was a grandson of Joseph and Susannah Hixson of Greene County and was probably the son of their son, Ephraim. Ephraim, Jr., moved to Bledsoe County when he was a small boy with his parents. We know that he was not the son of William Hixson, whose sons are named. We know that he was not the son of Timothy Stringfield Hixson, whose daughter he married. Of the three remaining Hixsons who moved to Bledsoe County, Andrew seems to have left no record; Joseph has no record. There can be no doubt that Ephraim, Jr., was the son of Ephraim, Sr.

Ephraim Jr.'s, marriage to his cousin Margaret Hixson, daughter of Timothy Stringfield Hixson, took place in Bledsoe County in 1817. She was born in Greene County, June 19, 1799. She died October 9, 1888. They had eleven children.

When their eldest son was twelve years old, about the year 1830 Ephram and Margaret Hixson moved to Hamilton County. The site of their home subsequently became the town of Hixson and is still so called; the railroad station is two hundred yards from their home. Their remodeled log cabin is now occupied by their grandson, William Arnett.

Ephraim Hixson cleared the fertile bottom lands of North Chickamauga Creek with the help of his slaves and soon established a successful farm. In the year 1833 he was elected Justice of the Peace and held that office for many years. In 1840 he was granted an entry of 240 acres by the State of Tennessee and in 1842 he received a grant of 480 acres on Walden's Ridge at the headwaters of North Chickamauga Creek. When he died in 1855 he owned several thousand acres and eleven slaves.

From this point the record of the Hixson Family was compiled by Rev. James E. Hixson, of Soddy. He gathered the following names and data from family Bibles and from cemetery inscriptions. Dr. Hixson also assisted materially in the preparation of the first part of the record.

Mrs. Joseph E. Seiller, of Atlanta, formerly Juanita Hixson, of Hixson, supplied many data including the full record of her ancestor Houston Hixson, the seventh child of Ephraim Hixson, Jr.

The children of Ephraim Hixson, Jr., and Margaret Hixson were:

- I Wilson Hixson.
- II David Hixson.
- III Susan Hixson.
- IV Margaret Hixson.
- V Washington Hixson.
- VI Mary C. (Polly) Hixson.
- VII Houston Hixson.
